DEMOCRATS ARE DESPERATE NOW

Throw Aside Every Consideration Except to Capture the Presidency.

INCITE TO VIOLENCE

To Stir Up Class Hatred Is All There Is Left of Their Campaign.

SWEEP OF THE SPELLBINDERS

Chicago, Oct. 31.—"There was more than mere coincidence," Mark Hanna, chairman of the republican national committee, said today, "in Croker's advice to democrats to use force at the polls on election day, and in Chairman Jones' statement given out here at the same time in relation to 'precautions taken by democrats to 'protect' their rights.'

"That kind of talk—incitement to violence and stirring up of class hatred—is all there is left to their campaign. It shows how far they have forgotten the dignity of the campaign in which they are engaged. Taken in conjunction with Mr. Bryan's recent speeches, it shows they have utterly forgotten the issues at stake."

"They have thrown aside every consideration except to capture the presidency, and they do not care how they get it."

Bryan's Tour in Ohio.

Toledo, Oct. 31.—Wm. J. Bryan began a tour of Ohio here this morning. Great crowds welcomed him at the depot and at the Boody house where a reception was given him.

Roosevelt on Free Silver.

Lockport, N. Y., Oct. 31.—Governor Roosevelt spoke to an overflowing crowd at the opera house at noon on free silver, imperialism and trusts. He was warmly received.

Finish of Bryan's Tour.

Dunkirk, N. Y., Oct. 31.—W. J. Bryan finished his canvass of New State in this city last night. He left early this morning for Toledo, O., from whence he will make a hurried north to south cut through the state to Cincinnati. He will reach Chicago on Thursday afternoon at 2:55 o'clock and make Cook County the battle ground for two days, leaving on Saturday night for Lincoln. One day in doubtful Nebraska legislative districts, with the finish in Omaha on Monday night, will complete the campaign so far as Mr. Bryan is concerned.

Roosevelt Makes a Protest.

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 31.—Plans to make Governor Roosevelt's visit to Rochester memorable were upset by almost incessant rain. What was intended to be the biggest and most spectacular political pageant Rochester has seen was postponed until Saturday evening.

At Geneva the governor was interrupted with cheers for Bryan, followed by hisses, catcalls and all sorts of derisive jeers. He faced the disturbers and appealed to them to at least preserve order if they did not happen to agree with what he said. "No democratic speaker," he said, "has ever been greeted in this manner by the republicans, and you and your party are the only sufferers by such conduct." The governor then spoke about the flag in the Philippines.

COUNT BONI SAID TO BE A SPENDTHRIFT

The Countess Has Asked That George Gould Be Appointed a Trustee of Her Estate.

New York, Oct. 31.—A dispatch from Paris says that George J. Gould has been appointed a trustee for his sister, the Countess Castellane. According to the Countess' pleading, the dispatch says, the Count Boni Castellane has spent twenty-three million francs, or nearly five million dollars in four years. It has been rumored several times in the past that the climax was imminent in the Castellane family. The Count has been hard pressed by creditors and recently a quantity of fine furniture bought by the Castellanes for their country villa was sold at auction. The visit of the couple to New York in January it is generally understood was for the purpose of obtaining money from the Gould estate to help out the Count.

MARRIAGE LAWS ARE TOO LAX.

Kalamazoo Ministers Seek to Abolish Michigan's Gretna Green.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 31.—At the meeting here today of the Kalamazoo Ministerial association, embracing all the counties in Southern Michigan, the members disapproved the wholesale marrying business at St. Joseph and adopted a resolution asking the next legislature to pass an amendment to the present marriage laws, requiring that one of the contracting parties to a marriage must reside in the state at least five days before the license can be issued.

EXTEND FAIR UNTIL NOV. 12.

President Loubet Signs Decree Prolonging Paris Exposition.

Paris, Oct. 31.—At a cabinet council today M. Millerand, the minister of commerce, obtained President Loubet's signature to a decree prolonging the exposition until November 12 and fixing November 7 as a free day for the poor. M. Delcasse, the minister of foreign affairs, communicated the thanks of the foreign sovereigns and governments for the welcome extended to their exhibitors and countrymen.

Wild Ducks are Numerous.

Baraboo, Wis., Oct. 31.—The recent high water in the Wisconsin River overflowed the low land on the big marsh a few miles east of this city and thousands of wild ducks and geese are maging their feeding grounds. There are more ducks in this vicinity this fall than for fifteen years.

SUICIDE FOR LOVE OF A GOOD WOMAN

Milwaukee Mystery of the Death of E. R. Lindsay, a Buffalo Real Estate Man is Solved.

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 31.—Coroner Van Lane and Deputy Broegmann, and Inspector Riemer of the police department have reached the conclusion, after a thorough investigation, that E. R. Lindsay, the Buffalo real estate man, who shot and killed himself in the rear of Prospect avenue mansion, was not only in love with a Milwaukee woman, who not only discouraged his advances, but actually repulsed him.

He is said to have followed her to this city from the East, where he continued to force his attentions upon her, and when he found that his case was hopeless it is believed he bought the revolver found at his side, sought the back yard of the Prospect avenue man, and blew out his brains.

There is not a scrap of evidence of a murder, although his money amounting to about $500, a valuable Swiss watch, and other things are missing.

The woman with whom Lindsay was infatuated lives near the scene of the tragedy, which is the center of the arid section of the east side.

The police have her name but it has been suppressed for the reason that she is not in any way to blame for what has occurred.

LORD SALISBURY WILL STEP OUT

British Premier Decides to Resign Foreign Ministry—Lansdowne to Succeed Him.

London, Oct. 31.—The following important announcement appears this morning in the Daily Telegraph:

"We understand that, after mature consideration, Lord Salisbury has decided to resign the foreign secretaryship, which will be transferred to the Marquis of Lansdowne. Although the health of the prime minister gives no cause for anxiety, we believe that he is largely influenced by the counsels of his medical advisers."

Referring editorially to the appointment of the Marquis of Lansdowne to the foreign office the Daily Telegraph approves it, "especially in view of the fact that Lord Salisbury's influence will still preside over the foreign policy of Great Britain."

CLEVELAND NAILS CAMPAIGN LIE DID NOT PREDICT BRYAN'S VICTORY

Dispatch Published Yesterday Pointing Out a Landslide Was Brazenly False—Sends Out Emphatic Denial—Grover Will Vote For McKinley.

Princeton, N. Y., Oct. 31—Grover Cleveland was indignant last night when he learned that he had been quoted as having predicted a landslide for Bryan.

The discredited statements were printed in large type on the first page of the Philadelphia Times yesterday. A special correspondent of the paper, signing the initials "R. J. B." declared the former president had expressed the belief that McKinley would not be re-elected.

When Mr. Cleveland's attention was called to these allegations he remarked:

"I've heard of nothing else since the publication; I've had inquiries on the subject from all over the country, and I have had twenty telegrams asking about the story. It is an unmitigated falsehood—a lie from the beginning to the end. Make my denial unqualified and as emphatic as possible. It cannot be too strong."

"Is there no foundation at all for the story?"

"Absolutely none," was the reply. "Have you knowingly seen any representative of the Philadelphia Times?"

"No, sir, I have seen no one who had any connection with the paper so far as I know."

HEATH SOUNDS A NOTE OF WARNING BEWARE OF DEMOCRATIC ROORBACKS

National Republican Committee Says Bryanites Will Try to Influence Voters With Lies—Evidence of Democratic Alliance With Filipinos.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 31.—Secretary Perry S. Heath of the republican national committee has his name signed to a note of warning which the committee sent out yesterday. It is addressed to the state and county committees and warns them to be on the lookout for "every conceivable report, rumor and statement" which the democrats may spread to the prejudice of republican candidates.

Mr. Heath's note of warning declares that what purports to be an interview with ex-President Cleveland in a Philadelphia paper predicting a landslide for Bryan is "faked and false" and is but the first of a series of roorbacks which the democrats, according to Mr. Heath, will start in motion.

Then Mr. Heath reached down into his wicker basket and drew forth a little typewritten statement which declared that "another evidence" of democratic alliance with the Filipinos had just come in hot from the island of Luzon to the republican committee.

This evidence, according to Mr. Heath, was a proclamation signed by Domingo Samson which prayed that Providence would decree the election of Mr. Bryan, "the great democrat," because said Mr. Samson, "if Mr. Bryan is elected our happy hours begin."

Bryan Cyclone in Chicago.

The Bryan cyclone is scheduled to strike political Chicago tomorrow afternoon at 3:55 o'clock. Democrats yesterday warned republicans to hunt their cyclone cellars when the democratic nominee for president arrived and republicans retorted by crying "Hot, hot, hot air."

The democrats call the three days' whirl which the Nebraska man is to make through Chicago the "Bryan cyclone" and yesterday they declared he would sweep the republican majority of 1896 from the face of the city.

Some of the republican leaders admitted yesterday that Bryan would probably do them some damage, but they also claimed that his speeches would react before election day in their favor.

Democrats Make Claims.

There are no longer any doubtful states as far as the democratic national committee is concerned. Yesterday the democratic managers carried all that had been in doubt and now claim that the following will cast their electoral votes for Bryan beyond the peradventure of a doubt: Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Kansas, Nebraska, New York, Maryland, West Virginia, South Dakota, California and Washington.

WHOLE VILLAGES ARE WIPE OUT ALASKA NATIVES PLAGUE-STRICKEN

Vivid Picture of Those Poor People Living in Awful Misery—The Disease Is a Kind of Infectious Influenza and Typhoid Fever

Dawson, Alaska, Oct. 31, via Tacoma, Wash., Oct. 31—Recitals of the sufferings of the plague-stricken natives of the Siberian and Alaskan coasts and the lower Yukon by travellists a week ago picture these mortals living in awful misery. Whole villages were wiped out by the epidemic. With the coming of winter it is believed the destitution will add to the victims.

The Rev. John B. Rene, in charge of the Catholic missions and churches of Alaska, who has arrived at Dawson from the mouth of the Yukon, says:

"The condition of the natives is so miserable one might say death would be a relief to them. On entering the tent one sees a man, his wife, and three or four children and a number of infants and other natives lying on a thin mat on the damp ground, all prostrated and afflicted by the plague.

"Mr. Strong said: "I believe the best interests of the country demand the defeat of an element which is seeking its own personal advancement at the sacrifice of law and order and the stability of our financial system." Mr. McDowell said: "I think Mr. Bryan is wrong on the money question."

Anglo-American Agreement.

Washington, Oct. 31.—Secretary Hay made public this morning the acceptance by the United States of the agreement between Germany and England regarding China, the essence of which has been published.

GYPSY QUEEN WINS THE PRIZE HANDBOME ANIMALS IN THE RING

Chicago, Oct. 31.—The feature of the horse show matinee was the dexterous and unexpected manner in which Thomas W. Lawson of Boston, he of the costly carnation fame, slipped into the only saddle ring of the afternoon with Gypsy Queen and carried off all the money and most of the applause of the day. A young man named Bald of the family that has made the saddle horses of Verailles, Ky., famous, was on Gypsy Queen, and that fact didn't help the various and talented competitors.

There was a look of dismay and chagrin on the face of every horseman when Lawson's new-blood bay acquisition curvetted into the ring. Bald sent her around the tan-bark twice and there was no more goo-goo eyes for the others after that. Gypsy Queen wasn't on the catalogue, and the saddle-ring for best gaited mares looked like ready money for Limestone Belle, E. R. Simms' wonderful five-gaited filly.

Queen Denmark, too, was in great form, and even at the finish, when the Gypsy had outstayed everything in the ring, the knowing one's allowed that Gano's mare and Limestone Belle were both better and purer-gaited than Lawson's horse.

Victory Due to Beauty.

The women were all for the Gypsy, however, and when the blue was hooked to her headstall the applause which had followed her around the ring increased till even the captious horsemen in the aisles joined in the cheering.

It was beauty that did it. Gypsy Queen is fresh from her late triumph at Kansas City, where she carried off the Stillwell $1,000 from all the cracks.

Mr. Lawson bought her for $3,000, and such judges as John T. Hughes, John R. Gentry and the Bald Brothers say he got the bargain of his life.

BIG CROWDS MEET BOB. LA FOLLETTE

Enthusiastic Gathering At Dodgeville Yesterday and At Lancaster Last Night.

Lancaster, Wis., Oct. 31.—The La Follette special reached this place at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon and went onto a siding to await the hour for the evening meeting. An enthusiastic audience of over 2,000 heard him speak here.

The work of rescue was dangerous as "after damp" had accumulated. The first rescuing party that went down into the mine was driven back and two men in the party had to be carried out. A number of physicians were on hand and as fast as the injured were brought to the surface their wounds were dressed and they were sent to the hospital or their homes.

The force of the explosion was so great that it blew down a great section of the roof. It was thought at first that there were a number of men back of the fall, but today the mine officials are of the opinion that all of the men have been taken out. The relatives of two men report, however, that they are still missing.

The accident was due to an employe who diverted the air course unwillingly and allowed the gas to accumulate in the place where the men were at work. The explosion soon followed.

LOVE LETTERS IN FLOWER LANGUAGE

Dixon Missives Filled With Endearing Epithets, Double Doses of "Car-nation" and "Arbutus."

Boston, Mass., Oct. 31.—The Rev. Dr. A. K. Dixon resumed the witness stand in the cross libel divorce suit this morning, and resumed his story of the many pitfalls and obstacles in his career. His testimony was dramatic in the extreme, and at times he imparted information in language both flowery and forcible.

The line of correspondence revealed the floral code, the secret language of flowers. Mr. Van Nort of Scranton, Pa., testified last week that he found these letters with other papers in Mrs. American's desk at her home in that city after her burial. Among others was the following:

"Friday, 1:55 a. m.—Darling, my own sweet precious, precious carnation, all mine, my faithful girl full of arbutus. Darling, darling, you are not going out, you know not where; you are coming to be near your own true carnation, to be taken care of, sheltered and loved.

"God bless my sweet dear and give sleep tonight, sweet rest and a peace that trusts both your God and your carnation. You can never know how deeply and truly emerald and laurel and arbutus are interwoven with the fabric of my life, a life that lives by running streams and meadows covered with whole vast acres of double carnations, laurel and arbutus. Meadows dressed in everlasting 'emerald.' Good night, pet. My eyes are wet as I write.

"They cannot take it from you. Soon we shall have streams and loads of double carnations. This awful forest will be gone. Now, good-by, dear, darling, love, my all in all. I am arbutus and emerald as ever before. Queen of my life, joy of my soul, I am wretched to day—pray for me. I know you will. Life on life, on life, lanrel truly. Loads of double carnations. Your loyal, devoted, and arbutus boy, forever and forever."

GROWTH OF WISCONSIN

Population In 1836 Was 11,683 It Has Now Reached 1,937,915—1,657

It Is Not Taxed.

Washington, Oct. 31.—According to the official census returns the population of Wisconsin is 2,063,963, and in 1890 was 1,636,880, showing an increase of 382,083. There are also 1,657 Indians in the state not taxed, making the total number of persons in the state 2,070,620. Following is the population

STILLSON WAGERS
$1,000 TO $200

BET THAT M'KINLEY WILL DEFEAT BRYAN.

Money Was Placed In the Hands of Frank H. Baack Last Evening— Isaac Connors Takes the Democratic End of The Wager.

Fred C. Stillson, the West Milwaukee street liquor dealer, last evening wagered $1,000 to $2,000 that William McKinley will defeat William J. Bryan next month for the presidency of the United States. Isaac Connors, the Richard Croker of the democratic party in Janesville, took the democratic end of the wager.

It is said that Mr. Connors represented four local democrats who placed $50 each. These men are said to be Peter J. Mount, Chauncey K. Miltimore, Colin C. MacLean and Isaac Connors.

Frank H. Baack, the well known clothing merchant, is stake holder and as such placed the two checks in the bank this morning, the $200 check being on the Merchants and Mechanics bank and the $1,000 on the Rock County National bank.

The wager is the largest to be made in this city or vicinity this year.

HALLOWE'EN PRANKS PLAYED TONIGHT

Tonight will be Hallowe'en, and by the young people of the city and country the ancient customs of the day will be observed with the faithfulness to tradition which is characteristic of youth. The day is passing in many communities, but has its champions in Janesville, as the appearance of the streets tonight will disclose. A number of Hallowe'en parties have been arranged.

Postoffice authorities warn the players of Hallowe'en pranks against tampering with mail boxes scattered along the many rural routes in the state. The destruction of these boxes is considered by the United States postal authorities as a violation of the postal rules—in fact the tampering with the mails—and prosecution would follow.

RED LANTERNS ON STREETS ARE STOLEN

The contractor doing the work on Court street has had considerable trouble lately by people stealing his lanterns. When the workmen leave for the night they always place red lanterns around the entrances to the street and also around any ditches or excavations that they may have made during the day. Several times during the night the lanterns were taken and one night five were taken. The city has also had some stolen at the same place where they are putting in the sewer. It has made so much trouble for the contractor that he will prosecute to the fullest extent everybody found meddling with the lights.

BRIEF BITS OF COUNTY NEWS

FOOTVILLE

Footville, Oct. 31.—Don't forget the date of the Dixie Jubilee Company on November 3. Remember they have a colored impersonator who renders dialects in several brogues. If you want to know the record of the Dixies read the papers where they have filled dates in this and other seasons.

We again caution you to reserve your seats for the Dixie concert as a crowded house is sure. Seats are being taken every day.

Rev. Milton Wells has a word of praise for the colored Dixie Jubilee singers' splendid record in Iowa.

H. Burhill is to vacate the butcher shop in our village and move elsewhere. Footville is a good point for some one who wishes to do a good business.

Footville, Oct. 31—Milton Owen's sale on the 23rd was well attended and the results gratifying to Mr. Owen. His choice flock of sheep sold for over $900.

A fine new cement floor has been put in the local creamery.

The Missionary society of the Methodist church will hold its November meeting at Mrs. Sol. Strang's Friday of this week. Dinner will be served. Everybody welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Ball and Mr. and Mrs. Whitcome of Monroe, spent a day or two with Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Snyder.

The "Beck district" school will hold the third of their series of socials at George Pankhurst's next Friday night.

Thomas Ogden is pushing his big house to completion as rapidly as possible. It will accommodate a good crowd when Tom gives his "at home."

The election social at the hall next Tuesday night will be a most pleasant affair. The program promises to be unusually fine. Admission will probably be ten cents. Supper twenty-five cents. Official returns will be read as fast as received.

MILTON JUNCTION.

Milton Junction, Wis., Oct. 31.—The agony of election is nearly over and will soon be a thing of the past. Politicians can either get up and out or settle down for another four years' job.

Deacon Rogers is having his house newly shingled and painted.

Philip Coon of Utica has entered the high school and is boarding at O. G. Crandall's.

The new depot agent has moved into the Ticknor house on Madison street.

Mr. Rand has purchased a house and lot on Vernal avenue of F. L. Burdick.

Will Shadel's new house is up and enclosed.

Orson Field has gone to Battle Creek in Michigan to take a nurses' course in the sanitarium.

Will Larkin of New Jersey is visiting friends in town.

There was an old-fashioned husking bee for the Rev. G. W. Burdick on Sunday. Twenty-five men, twelve women and thirteen children took dinner and helped husk and had their pictures taken. The elders and deacons worked with the rest of the boys and all enjoyed themselves and many bushels of the yellow corn were put in the gentleman's crib for which he feels very thankful.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowen of Edgerton attended church her last Saturday.

Some of our young people attended teachers' examination in Janesville last week.

Eva Thompson and Mabel Winch have been taking treatment of Dr. Hyland of Stoughton.

Revival meetings continue on three evenings of the week at the S. D. B. Church, Saturday, Wednesday and Friday evenings.

Fay Coon and Nathan Hull spent a few days at Madison last week.

Rev. G. W. Burdick has accepted a call to the pastorate of the Welton, Ia., church and will move there the first of December.

Mrs. Parker and daughter of Eau Claire are visiting her mother, Mrs. Mattie Clarke, at C. C. Clarke's.

Henry Ticknor of Blanchardsville was baptised at the S. D. B. church last Sabbath. His father, Dr. Ticknor, was with him and spent a few days doing dental work in this town.

Mrs. Wood and son of Albion visited her daughter, Mrs. Chas. Lawton on Saturday.

Miss Davis of Chicago has taken rooms at Mrs. Lasher's house and is attending high school.

Miss Lulu Mills spent her vacation in Chicago.

Dell Brown and family are spending a week at Frank Weis'.

George Thorpe and family visited relatives in Janesville Sunday.

FOR DEAD HEROES OF THE CIVIL WAR

An Appropriation of $10,000 for Monument or Memorial Hall Will Be Voted on Nov. 6.

Both the republican and democratic parties of Rock county have endorsed the project of appropriating $10,000 for the erection of a monument or memorial building to the deceased soldiers of the civil war. The question will be voted upon during the coming election and there is no doubt but that it will pass. The law and the instruction regarding the matter are as follows:

"Whereas, Section 670 of the revised statutes as amended by chapter 230 laws of 1895, authorizes county boards to appropriate a sum of money not exceeding $10,000 for the erection and construction of a suitable monument or memorial building to the deceased soldiers of the late war of the rebellion; and,

"Whereas, The said question will be submitted to vote of the electors at the election on Tuesday, November 6, in accordance with the law, said monument or memorial building to be erected in the court house park, and to that end that the matter may be fully understood by the electors of the county it is hereby recommended that the inspectors of election at each polling precinct call the attention of the voters to the fact that the question is voted upon on the regular election ballot to which it is attached, and forms a part by putting an X in the square at the right under the words yes or no as he desires. It is to be hoped that the voters will remember the valor and great sacrifice of the noble dead and that the proposed monument to their memory will receive the approval of every voter at the ballot box, remembering that the money will be expended under the direction of the county board."

Wedding Anniversary Surprise.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Pratt were very happily surprised Saturday evening in honor of their twelfth wedding anniversary, by a party of their friends. The evening was spent in playing cards. A delicious supper was served and all had a jolly good time. Those who were present were Messrs. and Mesdames: Broege, Miller, Schuller, Pratt, Walter Wardring, George Rogers. Misses: Marie Schuller, Emily Reaser, Bertha Keoptee, Edith Pratt, Hulda Dummer, Lydia Frind, Millie Kitzman of Jefferson.

GRAND MUSIC BY 16 YOUNG LADIES

First Concert of People's Lecture Course Was a Decided Success In Every Respect.

The first concert given by the People's Lecture Course was given by the Boston Ladies Symphony orchestra at the Congregational church last night. The large auditorium of the church was filled with an audience to whom the Ladies' orchestra was no stranger but who were more than anxious to hear them again. The orchestra consists of sixteen young ladies who are artists in every sense of the word and have been trained most efficiently. Their selections of last evening were a revelation in expressiveness.

Their program was of wide range, but with two exceptions classical, nevertheless all their encores were familiar little airs that showed that the orchestra were as well versed in light music as classical. Usually the orchestra is under the direct supervision of Frank W. McKay, the director, but he was taken ill with typhoid fever while in Minnesota, and his place is filled by Miss Grace A. Hastings.

The program was also rich in solo numbers, with orchestra accompaniment. Miss Elizabeth Backe played the concert with a remarkable grace and ease; the tuba solo by Miss Nellie Nicholson proved that there are great possibilities for it; Miss Cornelia Appy played the cello; and the flute by Miss Florence E. Beckett. Carl Crane also delighted the audience with his bass solos.

SUCCESSFUL FAIR CLOSED LAST NIGHT

Sisters of Mercy Have Good Reason to Feel Proud of Their Efforts.

After a most successful run of ten nights the Sister's fair closed last evening. As in year's past the fair was held in the former Armory which is now known as Assembly hall. Each evening the attendance has been large at certain points, it being almost impossible to move about on account of the dense crowd. The program offered was interesting and the number of articles displayed were both numerous and costly. Prof. Smith and his excellent orchestra furnished music. The Sisters of St. Joseph's convent have good reason to well feel proud of this year's fair.

BIG BATTLE WITH OUTLAWS,

A Pennsylvania Paymaster Killed by Desperadoes.

THREE BANDITS ARE SLAIN.

A Messenger Wounded—The Only Living Member of the Bandit Gang Is in Jail—Thrilling Story of Bravery and Bloodshed.

Connellsville, Pa., Oct. 31.—All Connellsburg's great coke region was in turmoil last night. Of four desperadoes bent on crime and robbery, who committed a cold-blooded murder yesterday afternoon, three lie dead, riddled with the shoots of angry men; and the last robber of the quartet is in a murderer's cell in Greensburg (Pa.) jail. The killed: Harry C. Hosler, paymaster; Sara Jovanov, bandit; Ivan Petrov, bandit; Michael Theatov, bandit. The wounded: Harry Burgess, messenger. In jail: Basil Nikolow, bandit.

The man the bandits killed, Harry C. Hosler, paymaster and head book-keeper of the Southwest Connellsburg Coke company—the coke interest of the Federal Steel company—was prominent in Chicago and in this state. Hosler's brother is the treasurer of the Southwest Connellsburg Coke company and lives in Chicago.

When within three-quarters of a mile of Alverton, passing along the road with the iron pay chest, containing $12,000, in a buggy drawn by two horses, Hosler and a negro guard—Harry Burgess of Mount Pleasant—thought their journey was almost at an end, when four bandits suddenly rushed from cover. One took the bridle of the horses and the other three covered Hosler and Burgess with their revolvers, at the same time brandishing huge dirk knives. Hosler and Burgess each had a Winchester, as is the custom. Burgess and a robber fired almost simultaneously. Hosler fell forward. Burgess grabbed him with one hand and continued to work his rifle with the other. The highwayman at the bridle doubled in the dust, and the frantic horses, released and frenzied at the noise of the battle, dashed forward. Leaning back over the seat Burgess worked his gun, and the highwaymen followed, firing repeatedly. Soon distanced by the horses, the latter gave up the chase.

Holding the limp body of Hosler, Burgess lashed his team into Alverton. The village was filled with angry workmen. Every man there was loyal to his paymaster, the best visitor to the village, every second week. Soon 200 workmen, armed with guns, hatsless and muttering curses, tore over the hills in search of the desperadoes.

Hosler died at a doctor's office almost instantly, and Burgess' brave ride to Alverton for medical aid was in vain.

In the meantime the army of man hunters ranged over the hills. They spread out to entrap the bandits. They closed ranks over thickets and marsh lands, thinking to cage their quarry. Finally a cry went up, "We've got 'em here!" And workmen from Alice, Tart, Alverton, Mount Pleasant and all around joined in the wild search.

"Here they are!" echoed from 300 throats. Men fired into the thicket any place. A cry that was more a curse broke from the lips of one bandit as he fell forward close to the edge of the thicket, after making one last desperate effort at defiance, before his strength failed him. How many shots were fired into that body will never be known. It was simply perforated with leaden missiles.

Cautiously the army of maddened men closed in upon the thicket, confident that the other bandits were there. They were not wrong in their surmise. The third bandit had not the lion heart of his two fallen comrades in crime. When found cringing and cowering under bushes he threw away his weapons and stood with hands up beseeching mercy. The only tender act of the posse during the afternoon was shown just then. The avengers of the paymaster's death spared him on the spot because the most merciful men of the party happened to be the first to lay hands on him. He was hustled off to the company store at Alverton.

The man hunters were still short one member of the gang, and the search was renewed with increased fury and augmented numbers.

When discovered he fired into the crowd. A hundred guns answered the challenge and the desperate man dropped back on the yellow clay, his body literally torn to pieces by the hail of bullets.

In the meantime another crowd had picked up the body of the bandit shot at the Bridle of the horses by Hosler's negro guard. The bullet had passed into the mouth through the neck and out under the brain. He was still breathing, however, and was loaded into a wagon and taken to Mount Pleasant into the office of Dr. Horner. He died at midnight. Late at night the third bandit taken from the Alverton store was lodged safely in the Greensburg jail.

Students Go on Strike.
Alliance, O., Oct. 31.—One hundred and seventy-five students of Mount Union college decided to go on a strike pending the reinstatement of the three men who are suspended for participating in a midnight demonstration when a crowd of students clad in nightrobes entered the women's dormitory and pushed the president's cow into an upper hall, where they tethered it.

Cheer Dewey at Missionary Society. Worcester, Mass., Oct. 31.—The Woman's Foreign Missionary society had a busy day listening to reports from foreign fields. The report of the work in Malaya paid tribute to the achievement of Admiral Dewey and was received with applause. Among those who read reports were Mrs. C. S. Winchell of the Minneapolis branch, Mrs. L. A. Alderman of the New England branch, Mrs. S. L. Keene of Philadelphia, Mrs. M. S. Huston of Des Moines, Bishop J. C. Hartzell, and Mrs. O'Neal of the Pacific branch.

Held for Paterson Murder. New York, Oct. 31.—The formality of holding an inquest in the Bosschieter case was gone through with at Paterson, N. J., last night, and the jury returned a verdict that Jenny Bosschieter came to her death from exposure following the administration of a poisonous drug, and that the four men now under arrest, Walter McAlister, Andrew Campbell, William Death and George J. Kerr, were responsible for her death.

The testimony taken brought out no new points in the case.

Uprising in Morocco. London, Oct. 31.—"A widespread tribal revolt," says the Tangier correspondent of the Daily Mail, "has broken out in Morocco against the provincial government. Serious fighting is anticipated. The French are preparing an expedition to suppress Moorish bandits, who are active in the Algerian hinterland."

Tears

Many a woman has periodic crying spells. She meets her husband with eyes red and swollen and he cries out: "What has happened?" "Nothing," his wife replies. "I don't know what is the matter with me, but I just had to have a good cry." Men don't have crying spells. It would seem therefore that an affection confined to women must have its cause in the womanly nature. There is no doubt that a diseased condition of the delicate womanly organs, is in general responsible for feminine nervousness and hysteria.

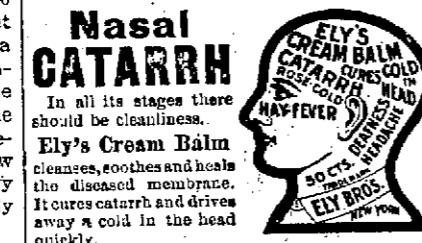

The use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes women happy by making them healthy. There are no more crying spells. "Favorite Prescription" cures inflammation, ulceration and female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

There is no medicine "just as good."

Accept no substitutes.

"I am a doctor," writes Mrs. Mary A. Sasser, of High, Lamar Co., Texas, "I suffered with falling of the womb also ulceration of the womb. After using three bottles of your 'Favorite Prescription' four of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and two vials of 'Pleasant Pellets' I found relief. I am able to do work which I could not do before. I am a wonderfull medicine to all my friends, for truly believe it saved my life."

Free. Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser, in paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay cost of mailing only. Cloth binding 31 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

MR. BRYAN'S WARNING

If there is anyone who believes that the gold standard is a good thing, or that it must be maintained, I warn him not to cast his vote for me because I promise him it will not be maintained in this country longer than I am able to get rid of it." —Hon. William Jennings Bryan, Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 16, 1896.

MR. BRYAN'S IGNORANCE.

The Reform Club Sound Currency committee, of New York, is sending out some excellent campaign literature of which the following is a sample:

It is important to notice that in all Mr. Bryan's talk about the free coinage of silver, it is apparent that he does not understand the transaction at the mint. The government does not buy gold now, and it would not buy silver under free coinage. It would simply take a pound of silver and give for it a pound of silver coins. If a miller merely takes wheat and gives flour for it he does not buy wheat; he does not create a demand for wheat, and he does not fix the price of wheat. Free coinage could not fix the price of silver in gold, or in corn, or in iron. If free coinage increased the use of silver it would to some uncertain extent increase its price in other commodities; but as the gigantic bull movement in the silver market which the government carried on from 1873 to 1893 did not prevent silver from falling, not much could be expected in this direction.

Mr. Bryan has a large following who are infected with the same mistaken notions about silver. People who have been led to believe that the free and unlimited coinage of the white metal, would in some miraculous way bring to each individual a supply of dollars without any particular effort on their part. People seem to forget that the only thing that produces money in this world is some kind of toil, it may be the toil of the brain, the toil of the hand, or the toil of the brain and hand combined, but back of every honest dollar that a man possesses is something in the way of an equivalent. Mr. Bryan has a silver mine; he works it with his brain and with his mouth; and to such good advantage that he can afford to settle with his clients and patrons with fifty cent dollars and pocket the loss. The output of Mr. Bryan's mine has an inflated value; the bottom will drop out of it after the sixth of November, and if by any chance he should find it necessary to abandon his mine and take up the burden of life on a level with the average mortal, he will discover then an honest dollar is the best equivalent for honest toil. A large majority of intelligent people have already discovered this fact and will so record their verdict at the polls next Thursday.

GOOD TIMES.

There has never been a time in the history of the country when prosperity was so general as in this year 1900. There never has been a national campaign when business has been so slightly disturbed, as during the campaign that is just closing, and yet the results of the campaign are of most vital importance to the welfare of the country.

Times are good because everyone is busy. The army of men who work by the day is not large enough to supply the demand, and wages were never better. The skilled workman in shop or factory is steadily employed and if at all thrifty the home is provided with every comfort and a surplus finds its way to the bank every week.

Labor in every department of activity is in great demand, and contentment in the ranks of labor is more universal than for many years.

Capital is inspired with confidence, and because of an abundance investments are cheerfully made in an enterprise that looks at all promising. The man in business, whether manufacturing or merchandising, finds no trouble, if he is honest, in securing plenty of capital for his requirements. Railroads and large corporations that use money find no trouble in selling stocks and bonds because there is so much unemployed capital.

The campaign has not been a disturbing element because the result was practically settled before the national conventions were held.

Labor is satisfied to let well enough alone and capital retained confidence in the good sense of the people believing that the McKinley administration would be continued for another four years.

The outlook for the future is exceedingly bright, and both capital and labor will continue to enjoy the benefit of good times as the result of substantial prosperity.

The national campaign is as destitute of an issue, as a bald head is of hair, and the effort to raise an issue has been as futile as attempting to raise hair on a bald pate. With good times, plenty of money, and everybody happy, what is the chance for an issue? Mr. Bryan's political ambitions are all right, but his best friends don't expect to see them realized, neither does Mr. Bryan, himself.

The full dinner pail discussion, Mr. Bryan says, is an insult to intelligent labor. How about soup?

It is stated as a fact that Bryan's picture, at the late Hoffman House banquet in New York, was draped with the American and Filipino flags, but that the latter was afterward removed. No wonder that Aguinaldo is interested in the result of the election.

Mr. Bryan, as a prophet, is a failure; he predicted all sorts of disasters four years ago and none of them materialized. Now he looks through the same goggles and sees a fort in every city. He should join the weather bureau.

A theorist is always a dangerous leader. Mr. Bryan is a theorist pure and simple, and his theories in practice would be extremely dangerous.

Some one has suggested that the democrats will nominate a democrat to head their ticket in 1904. Will Mr. Bryan consent to anything so radical?

The tramp and street beggar have largely disappeared.

Mr. Bryan forgot to talk free silver in New York.

SHOOTS HUSBAND;

Implores Her to Send for Medical Aid, But She Refuses—After His Life Insurance.

Genesee, Ill., Oct. 31.—William Hiltner, a young carpenter of Hooppole, near here, is dead of wounds inflicted upon him by a pistol in the hands of his wife. According to the story Hiltner told before his death, fully confirmed by the wife's confession, she shot him first in the temple as he lay dozing on the sofa. He leaped for her and she shot him once in the neck and twice in the abdomen before he wrested the pistol from her. The wounded man implored her to obtain help. The two were alone in the house. The wife refused and waited an hour for him to die. He carried $8,000 life insurance in the Woodmen. A desire for the money is believed to be the motive.

SECRET WORK AT MADISON.

Coach King Getting Wisconsin University in Shape for Saturday.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 31.—Secret practice has been the order of the week at Camp Randall and the team is fast rounding into shape for Saturday's game with Minnesota. Drop kicking, punting and an hour's signal practice and a short line-up against the scrubs constitute the schedule for each day's work.

The freshman team is also beginning to show up well and on Monday Kilpatrick lined them up for the first time against one of King's scrub elevens. Again today they played a short practice game.

From present indications the contest with Minnesota Saturday promises to be Wisconsin's hardest game of the season. With Illinois out of the championship race and Chicago showing a weakness, Minnesota looms up as the most formidable opponent. Last year the Minnesota players freely prophesied that as soon as O'Dea was out of the game they would beat Wisconsin, and now will play desperately to back up their assertion. The team, with eleven substitutes, will leave for Minneapolis Thursday noon.

INEBRIETY AMONG BRITISH WOMEN

General Drunkenness Alleged by the Charity Society of London—Drunken Wives in Homes

London, Oct. 31.—British women are drifting toward general drunkenness, according to the facts and figures developed at today's meeting of the Charity Organization society of London.

Not content with this disclosure, Dr. Heywood Smith, the well known specialist on woman's diseases, asserted that inebriety was more rabid and increasing with greater rapidity among the rich and well-to-do women than among the lower strata of society.

Nobility Not Yet Affected.

In an interview with a correspondent today, Dr. Heywood Smith said: "I got my knowledge of the facts from every-day contact with women's ills. Drunkenness has not yet reached the aristocracy, but in the so-called upper classes it is epidemic."

Dr. Smith added that the medical profession was not altogether blameless. He accused his fellow-practitioners of needlessly prescribing wine and whisky to many women patients, and he declared that even babies in arms were not immune from alcoholic medicine.

Drunken Wives in Homes.

Dr. Holmes, director of the Church of England Temperance society's police court mission, said at the meeting that the inebriates act ought to be amended so as to give neglected husbands a release from drunken wives. He claimed that more homes were wrecked in London through drunkenness through the excesses of intemperate men.

Statistics that were introduced showed 10,116 cases where women were convicted in the London courts of drunkenness during the year 1899, of which number 4,145 were habitual drunkards.

Dr. Brooks, a member of the Fulham school board, urges the incorporation of temperance study in London's public school curriculum.

UNCLE CONSIDER'S ADVICE.

Silver That Nobody Wants Piled Up in the Treasury Vaults While Gold Is in Use.

Before writing a word on the silver question I went to my Uncle Consider for good advice.

"Uncle," I said, "do we really need free silver-free coinage?"

"Need it—need free coinage!" exclaimed the old man. "Why, we've got it. This government has a right to coin all the silver it wants to, hasn't it?"

"Yes, but suppose we need more?"

"Need in-store," he repeated, slowly, "why, how much silver have we coined?"

"Well, I see by the mint reports that we've coined $625,300,000 worth."

"And how much gold?"

"Six hundred and twenty-six million, six hundred thousand dollars' worth," I said.

"And where is that silver now?"

"Well, I said, "I see by the last mint report that $56,443,000 is in circulation. The people have it, but $508,000,000 is lying idle in the treasury."

"Five hundred million silver dollars piled up in the treasury, you say?"

"Those are the figures, uncle."

"And how much gold is there in the treasury?"

"About $80,000,000, and most of this we have just rented from the English at four per cent, and we've got to pay it back."

"What, no real gold at all?" said Uncle Consider, thoughtfully. "Hiring gold from the English, you say, just to keep up appearances?" and my uncle got up and walked the floor.

After a few minutes he stood up, wrung his hands and said, slowly:

"I've been a bimetalist all my life, Eli, and it seems as if everybody else has been that way, too, for we've coined $625,000,000 worth of silver that nobody wants. The people won't take but $56,000,000 of it, while they take $600,000 of gold. We can't sell it to England for gold. It's only worth 50 cents to the dollar, anyway; and just to think, with all this silver rusting in the treasury, a lot of miners and populists are yelling for more silver, and they want the government to pay a double price for it, too. No, Eli, I'm a bimetalist, but I know when I've had enough. It is my deliberative opinion that we'd better go a little slow on silver for awhile and let gold catch up. If the people want silver very badly, let them go to Mr. Carlisle and get some out of that $500,000,000 pile in the treasury. The old highwayman used to blow a man's brains out and get his money, but these free coiners, Eli, seem to want to blow our brains and get our brains."

Then uncle laid down his Bible and went on reading Mr. Preston's mint report.

INCREASED SAVINGS.

McKinley Prosperity Sweeps the Savings Bank Deposits of the People.

Mr. Bryan continues to argue that the people want something more than the full dinner pail. They are getting it. They wear more clothes, use more cotton, use more wool, buy more furniture and have and save more money than they did under the Cleveland democratic control of national affairs.

How much better they have fared under the administration of President McKinley is shown by the following comparative statement of deposits in the savings banks:

No. of Depositors Deposits
1890 4,254,516 $1,722,974,631
1894 3,413,477 1,215,450,016

Inc. under McKinley $41,039 $517,524,066

That is to say, general prosperity has increased, the number of savings banks has increased by nearly 800,000, the deposits by over $500,000,000.

New Trust Friends for Bryan.

In connection with the fact that Mr. Croker, of ice trust fame, and Senator Jones, of the Round Cotton Bale trust, are supporting Mr. Bryan, it is interesting to add that Mr. Bryan's recent meeting at Parkersburg, W. Va., was presided over by ex-United States Senator Camden, an old-time democrat, who, besides being one of the richest men in West Virginia, is a large stockholder of the Standard Oil company. It is not supposed that the intimate connection of Senator Camden with the Standard Oil company was even so much as mentioned by one of the Bryan newspapers.

Southern Mill Operatives.

In the southern states to-day there are about 165,000 operatives in mills.

The industry is a comparatively new one and was fostered by protection.

WILL HELP M'KINLEY

St. Louis Is Very Friendly to His Reelection.

Indications That the City Will Influence All of the Territory That Its Merchants Trade With.

St. Louis may be taken as the representative city of the central southwest. Just now a political revolution is in progress in the city which is bound to have its influence over the residents of the many states who do a business in that place.

It is significant to know that four years ago the real estate agents of the city—men whose business compels them to be up to date, were on the sound money side, with but few exceptions, and about equally divided between the republican and gold democrat nominees. This time McKinley can count on the support of all but perhaps a dozen of the 300 and more real estate agents in St. Louis—including republicans, democrats of all descriptions, socialists and middle-of-the-road populists. The ratio also stands good for the voting employees of real estate agencies. It is about twice 16 to 1 in favor of McKinley.

Samuel Bowman, one of the representative real estate operators whose business extends well into the southwest says:

"I always voted the democratic ticket until four years ago, and I expect to vote for McKinley again this year. It may interest St. Louisians, Bryanites as well as McKinleyites, to learn that the question of the erection of $300,000 building in this city depends on the result of the presidential election. If McKinley is elected, the building will be put up and the work started this winter. If Bryan is elected, the enterprise will be indefinitely postponed.

The location is a downtown business corner, and the structure will be one of the finest store buildings in St. Louis. It is to be erected for a big mercantile establishment. The owner of the ground is brewer and a democrat. While both parties to the contract are confident that Bryan will be defeated, they think it best to be on the absolutely safe side, and will, therefore, not complete arrangements until the result of the election is known."

Mr. Bowman also knows of a contract signed recently, in which another large mercantile house agreed to lease property adjoining its present building on Washington avenue.

Robert Breck, who represents a plate glass and several fire insurance companies at St. Louis, was for McKinley and sound money four years ago, and is going to vote that way again, believing that a continuance of the McKinley administration would be much better for the business of the country than a trial of Bryanism.

W. H. Lee, the head of the firm of W. H. Lee & Co., who was also formerly a director of the Merchants' Laedle bank of St. Louis, is equally positive in his preference for Mr. McKinley. Mr. Lee was formerly a democrat, as his father was before him. He voted the democratic ticket for many years, and up to 1896, when he bolted Bryan, marched in the sound money parade and voted for McKinley.

"I believe in letting well enough alone," said Louis Landau, the St. Louis wholesale grocer. "Why change the monetary system of the country and disturb business, when we are getting along splendidly now? Why should we take a back step, and particularly at a time when our foreign trade is expanding as it never did before?"

Charles W. Rutledge, the attorney of St. Louis, voted the democratic ticket until four years ago. He thinks he did a wise thing in voting for McKinley and Hobart, and expects to vote for McKinley and Roosevelt. He cannot understand why any man that voted for Fulmer and Buckley in 1896 will vote for Bryan and Stevenson this year. He hails from southern Illinois.

Thomas Stoddart, manager of the St. Louis clearing house, never voted the republican ticket until 1896. He thought the best interests of the country demanded the defeat of Mr. Bryan, and has not changed his mind since.

George H. Smith, who was United States assistant treasurer in St. Louis under President Cleveland, and who is now in the real estate business, says that he has not met a single sound money democrat who, so far as he has heard, is going to vote for Bryan, but that, on the other hand, he has talked with several democrats that support Bryan in 1896 who are now for McKinley. Four years ago only one of the ten democrats living in his block, counting both sides of the street, voted for Bryan, and Mr. Smith thinks it will be about the same way this time, except that McKinley will receive the support of more of the nine than he did before.

Bryan's Defense of Free Trade.

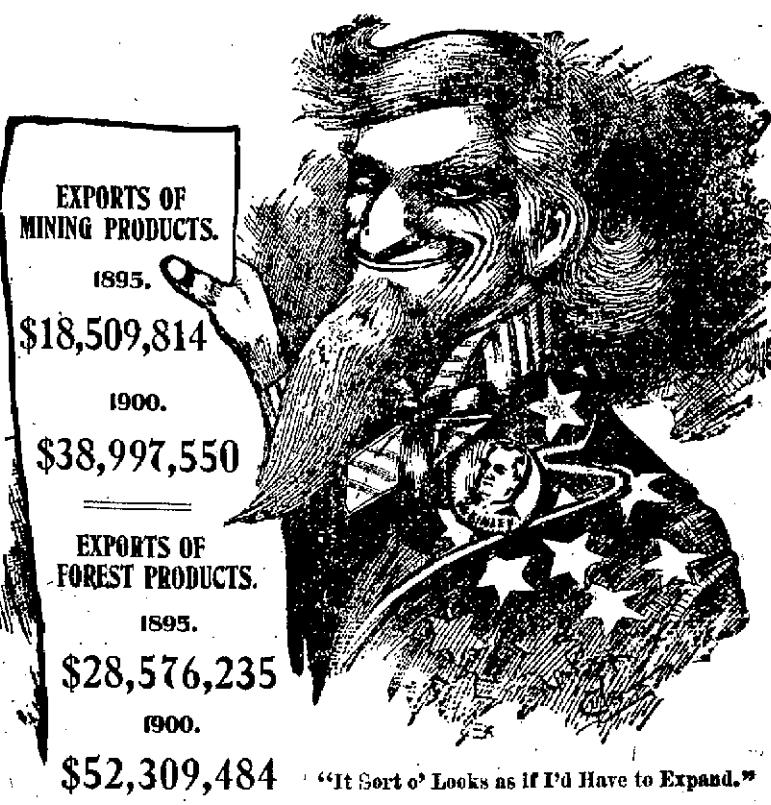

When Bryan gets an idea on the brain there is no stopping him. Starting out as a rank free trader, in 1894, when told his policy would destroy the American rate of wages, he replied by flaunting over the head of his printed speech the proverb:

"Rioter is little with righteousness than great revenues without right."

Such workingmen must think of the devil quoting Scripture when told they must come down in their wages and accept poverty in the name of right.

Imperialism 30 Years Ago.

The election of Lincoln means war, anarchy and disunion—the success of McClellan will bring peace and the restoration of the union. These are the issues involved in the elections of October and November—Indianapolis Sentinel, September 13, 1864.

BUSINESS ACTIVITY.

Ten Cent Cotton and the Opening of Mills Has Made Things Lively.

Below are the earnings of railroads belonging to the southern and southwestern groups for the fiscal years ended June 30, 1900, and June 30, 1899:

Gross.

Southern $6,555,255 $6,287,997

Southwestern 51,375,195 45,124,734

Net.

1900 18,16,152 $16,217,273

1899 17,500,117 $18,885,551

In the case of the southwestern group, including lines in Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Kansas and Colorado, the increase in net earnings was 28.19 per cent, which is greater than that of any other group of systems in the United States.

An examination of the reasons for the phenomenal increase in the property of southern railroads, shows that they are associated with matters of national policy, which, during the past four years, have been matters of republican policy.

The price of the great southern staple, cotton, went up from five to seven cents, and from seven cents to ten cents per pound, for the primary reason that the general policy prevailed of opening up American mills to labor. A large number of the mills thus opened were cotton mills, and the section where nearly all of the new ones were opened was in the south.

Money has loaned at lower rates of interest; both agricultural and manufacturing interests have been stimulated thereby; and what stimulates these interests directly stimulates the business of railroads. The outbound shipments of the raw cotton may not have been heavier because more was used in the southern mills; but the outbound shipments of textile goods have greatly increased. Also the inbound shipments of the luxuries of life have increased enormously, and this class of freight is the best paying of all.

Opening up new markets in Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines for the products of the south has given great additional stimulus to the southern railroads, which geographically considered, derive unusual advantages from the expansion policy.

MAKES HOME MARKETS.

Increase of Manufactures Is Followed by Increased Demand for Farm Products.

Our imports of crude articles not produced in the United States, for manufacturing purposes, amounted to $191,119,810 in the fiscal year 1895. These had increased in 1900 to $324,106. Nothing in the way of statistics has more clearly demonstrated the growth of our industries; for when these manufactures grow, others will necessarily grow relatively.

The point of this to the producers of this country is that as manufactures increase, just in like proportion does their home market for wheat, corn, wool, cotton and live stock increase.

Not Actively Supported.

The Louisiana populists have decided to support the republican party this campaign. The reason they give is a sound one. Their resolution says, among other things, that "We consider the paramount issue to the Louisiana cotton planters—mostly populists—is the maintenance of ten cent cotton, which was alone made possible by republican policies; and that they should join their brethren, the sugar and rice planters and the lumbermen, in having Louisiana vote for her interests."

The doctrine of protection is making its way in the democratic strongholds of the south. Mr. Bryan is not getting any too enthusiastic support from his party there. The southerners are nearly all in spirit and in belief expansionists and protectionists.

Hard Facts vs. Pessimism.

"Bradstreet's" says: "There was a grand total of decrease in the liabilities in failures in the first six months of 1900 from the corresponding period of 1898 of $45,471,728."

Mr. Bryan says: "The much-vaunted prosperity is on the wane."

Which is right, the hard fact business agency or the intellectual dyspeptic?

VAN DULER GIVEN 2 YEARS AT WAUPUN

ASSAILANT OF MISS O'CLAIRE GOES TO STATES PRISON.

Court Gave Him Some Very Good Advice While Passing This Sentence --Says He Hates to Go to Prison Because It Prevents Him From Voting.

After an almost all night session the jury in the Van Duler case brought in a verdict of guilty. It was just striking one o'clock when the rap was heard on the door telling the court that a decision had been reached.

Van Duler is a negro who claimed to have come from Honduras to this country about six months ago. He was arrested at Beloit on the complaint of Miss Frankie O'Clare who alleged that Van Duler struck at her with a carving knife with such force that had he not been stopped would probably have killed her. As it was he hit her in the hip with the knife, badly tearing her clothes but not inflicting any wound. The trouble took place in a boarding house in Beloit over some trifling things that made Van Duler angry.

While the jury was out Van Duler was in the court room talking and joking with the people that were present and said that he did not care if he got ten years only that it would prevent him voting.

When Van Duler was brought before the court to have sentence passed upon him he was asked if there was any reason why it should be withheld. He stated that he thought that he should be punished for assault all right but didn't think that he should be for "intend to do great bodily harm."

Nevertheless the court gave him some very good advice and then passed sentence to the extent of two years in the state's prison at Waupun to date from noon today and the first day to be in solitary confinement.

He was taken to Waupun today at noon.

SEWING MACHINE CAUSED LAW SUITS

Jury of Six in Justice Patten's Court Yesterday Found For the Plaintiff.

The question of ownership of a sewing machine was aired yesterday in Justice Patten's court the title of the action being that of the Singer Manufacturing Company vs. Mary A. Decker. The machine was valued at $60 and was sold to the defendant about two and one-half years ago by William Kennedy local agent for the Singer Company.

Mrs. Decker, who resides at Emerald Grove, gave notes as part payment aside from $4 in cash and a second hand machine that she valued at $20. The suit yesterday was one of reply in the plaintiffs alleging the non-payment of the balance due.

Constable Evans went to Emerald Grove and secured the machine, the jury finding in favor of the plaintiffs. The jury comprised T. L. Acheson, J. L. Fletcher, A. F. Lee, Sherman Phelps and H. W. Perrigo.

BUSINESS SECTION WITHOUT WATER

Main Street From Prospect Avenue to South First Street Shut Off.

This afternoon the business section along Main street from Prospect avenue south to South First street was without proper water supply in case of fire.

At two o'clock the Janesville Water company closed the Main street valves at Prospect avenue and South First street so as to shut off the supply of water in order to allow a pipe connection to be made at the intersection of Main and Court streets.

It is expected that this connection will be completed and the water again turned on in the space of a few hours' time.

Superintendent Hyzer said: "In case of a fire we would have had to take water from hydrants on adjoining streets. This we could easily have done. This is the first time in years that we have had to shut the Main street water supply off from the business section."

H. A. COOPER RALLY TO BE AN EVENT

THURSDAY NIGHT WILL BE A
GALA TIME FOR THE G.O.P.

O. F. Nowlan Will Preside At the Opera House Meeting—Large Delegations Expected In From the Surrounding County Towns—Some Other County Meetings.

Great preparations are under way for the big Cooper rally to be held here on Thursday evening. The county committee have the meeting in charge and are arranging to have it one that will throw all others in the shade.

The Opera House has been engaged for the meeting, and chairs will be placed on the stage to accommodate the large crowd. Seats will be reserved for the prominent republicans and for men of advanced age who would be at a disadvantage if left to find seats in the rush that will take place when the doors are opened.

O. F. Nowlan is to preside and will present Hon. H. A. Cooper to the assembled people of the city and county. There will be instrumental music by the Imperial band which has been engaged for the occasion and also vocal music by the Bower City male quartet which so delighted the audience that attended the La Follette rally. Col. E. O. Kimberly will also sing some of his campaign songs.

Invitations have been sent out to all the surrounding towns and the county committee have received numberless advices from them to the effect that there will be large delegations present. The towns have also been billed and hundreds of dodgers have been distributed among the farmers so that they will know all about the big celebration.

It is expected that Mr. Cooper will arrive here at 10:10 o'clock tomorrow morning from Evansville where he makes a speech tonight. He will be driven around the city by admiring friends and will make a public appearance at the Opera House at 8 o'clock in the evening.

Procession is Called Off.

The torch light procession which was planned to take place prior to the Cooper rally on Thursday evening has been declared off by the republican club. The non-arrival of torches and other paraphernalia is responsible in part for this change of plans.

Other Janesville speakers who will appear in the county and state and the places of appearance are as follows:

J. M. Whitehead will speak at Shawno, Oct. 31; Antigo, Nov. 1; Menomonie, Nov. 2; Rhinelander, Nov. 3; Whitewater, Nov. 5.

FERRELL IS FOUND GUILTY.

Train Robber to Suffer Death for Murder of Lane.

HE IS COOL AFTER VERDICT.

Electrocution Is the Penalty Under Laws of State—Crime Committed in Order to Secure Money with Which to Wed.

Marysville, O., Oct. 31.—The jury in the trial of Charles Rosslyn Ferrell for the murder on the night of Aug. 10 of Charles Lane, an express messenger on a Panhandle passenger train, returned last night a verdict of murder in the first degree without recommendation. The verdict carries with it the death penalty, which in Ohio is by electrocution. The deliberations of the jury occupied six hours and thirty minutes, and the verdict was reached at 11:40 o'clock p. m. When the indictment was read Ferrell appeared to be taken by surprise and his face flushed. This was the first visible sign of emotion that has been shown by the prisoner during the trial, but he quickly regained his composure and was led back to his cell without having uttered a word. Judge Melhorn discharged the jury and J. L. Cameron, counsel for the defense, at once gave notice of a motion for a new trial. One of the grounds of the motion will be the sickness of Juror George Westlake, who broke out with measles shortly after the jury had retired to deliberate. Mr. Cameron claims that in his condition Mr. Westlake would have agreed to any verdict in order to be released from duty. The cost of the trial to the state and Union county will be about $7,500. The last day of the trial was a hard strain for Ferrell. He was restless and nervous all morning and afternoon and told Sheriff Robinson that if he was given even a life sentence he would not be on earth long. He had been so ill during the night he required the services of a physician and he appeared in court in a condition bordering on collapse. H. S. Cameron resumed his argument for the defense in the morning, dealing largely with the insanity claim. He spoke three hours and a half concluding with a plea for mercy and for the mercy clause in the verdict. Ferrell's demeanor in the evening changed to one of apparent indifference and during the early part of the night while the jury was deliberating the question that meant life or death to him he was playing cards in the jail. The murder of Express Messenger Charles Lane on the night of Aug. 10 was one of the most brutal and premeditated deeds in criminal history. Ferrell shot Lane to get money for his wedding.

ALTON TRAINS COLLIDE.

One Man Killed and Six Others Injured in a Wreck.

St. Louis, Oct. 31.—One trainman was killed and six others were injured, one perhaps fatally, in a collision on the Chicago & Alton near Mitchell, Ill. The passengers received a shaking up, but none was seriously hurt. Dead: George W. Corson, mail clerk, Bloomington, Ill.; Injured: Sidney L. Webster, engineer, Bloomington, Ill.; arms and legs broken and injured internally. George Peritage, fireman, Bloomington, Ill.; arm broken; B. Durham, mail clerk, Bloomington; William Stewart, mail clerk, Bloomington; R. P. Hines, mail clerk, Normal, Ill.

The collision occurred between passenger train No. 8, known as the "Midnight Special," bound from Chicago to St. Louis, and a freight train on a long curve near Mitchell. Webster and his fireman jumped, as did also the engineer and fireman of the freight train. The first car behind the engine of the passenger train was the mail car, in which several clerks were asleep. The engine of the freight crashed through the front of the mail car, telescoping it and injuring a number of the clerks. Two cars in the freight train, carrying mixed produce, were destroyed and a wheat car was partially wrecked.

Evidence of Foul Murder.

Noblesville, Ind., Oct. 31.—Stripped of every vestige of clothing, with throat cut, head crushed, one foot amputated and his arms broken, the body of an unknown man was found near here today alongside the tracks of the Lake Erie & Western railroad. It is believed he was murdered and his body thrown on the tracks. The man was about 35 years old, had dark hair and a light brown mustache. His coat, vest and shirt were found almost half a mile away from the body.

Long Overdue Steamer Safe.

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 31.—The long overdue steamer Robert Dollar has arrived from Nome, with 350 passengers and $1,000,000 in gold dust. She was delayed by storms preventing her discharging and loading cargo and hindering her on the way down. She left Nome Oct. 14. All on board are well.

The steamer Ohio arrived from Nome with 427 passengers and $250,000 in gold dust. She sailed Oct. 21.

Robbers Raid Roundhead, Ohio.

Bellefontaine, O., Oct. 31.—Robbers raided the town of Roundhead, 14 miles northwest of here. A terrific explosion aroused the residents, and citizens who appeared on the streets were shot at by robbers, who finally rode away toward Lima, firing as they went. The heaviest loss was at Mertz & May's store, where the safe was blown and $400 secured.

ALVORD READY FOR PENALTY.

Defaulting Bank Teller Says: "A Lot of Money Goes Easy."

New York, Oct. 31.—C. L. Alvord, Jr., the defaulting note teller of the First National Bank, woke up in a cell in police headquarters this morning. He was captured in Boston yesterday by astute detectives who knew his whereabouts for a week, but neglected to arrest him until after the bank offered $5,000 reward for his capture.

Alvord would not talk this morning, declining to say anything until he had seen his lawyer.

To a Boston detective, who came to New York with him, he said:

"I have played and lost, and I'll take the consequences."

"There is no prison on earth that can punish me more than the prison I have been in since my arrival in Boston. I tell you that back room has been a hell on earth to me."

"Before leaving New York I talked with my wife. I said to her, 'I am a good many thousand dollars behind in my accounts with the bank, and now what shall I do? Shall I kill myself or stand for it?' She said, 'Don't kill yourself,' so I tried to escape."

"What did you do with all your money?" was asked.

"Oh, I don't know; money goes, you know," he replied. "When any one lives at the rate of $50,000 a year, has good horses, and likes other people's horses, it don't take long for the man to go."

"How much money have you left?"

"All I've got is $50."

"Did you ever play the races?"

"I never played a cent on horses in my life. I have kept horses, but there is no race track, poolroom or bookmaker that can boast of taking my money."

"How about taking $700,000? Did you take all that?"

"Seven hundred thousand dollars is a lot of money, and a lot of money goes easy," said Alvord. "I don't say that I did take so much."

MINISTERS MEET IN PEKIN.

Reconciling Their Slight Differences of Opinion.

AN ARMISTICE IS FAVERED.

Such Armistice Could Be Inoperative in Case of Actual Boxer Uprisings—Looting at Paotingfu—Kangtsoo Region Again in Danger.

Pekin, Oct. 31.—At their meeting the ministers at Pekin discussed generally the terms of the French note, particularly those portions of it referring to the prohibition of the importation of arms and the punishment of the royal princes who aided and abetted the Boxer movements. No definite conclusion was reached, and the meeting adjourned. The differences between the ministers are not serious and they hope to complete their work in six or seven more meetings. Then they will meet the Chinese plenipotentiaries.

The ministers are anxious for the return of the court to Pekin. They say there is no semblance of a government here now to deal with.

The ministers have also discussed the advisability of the allied governments issuing an armistice and suspending military operations pending the negotiations. Some of them do not favor such a plan, basing their objection on the ground that the country is not subdued, and that risings are likely if operations are suspended.

Those who favor an armistice declare that expeditions like that to Paotingfu are not consistent with a desire for peace, and that they will prevent the return of the imperial party to Pekin, while an armistice would probably result in the return of the party to the capital. Furthermore, the armistice could be so arranged that it would be inoperative in the case of actual Boxer uprisings or outrages anywhere.

Paotingfu, Oct. 31.—The city of Paotingfu has been divided into districts under the superintendence of the various nationalities represented in the occupying force. Looting is strictly forbidden in the British quarter, but the Germans, French, and Italians have sacked their respective districts.

The international commission, which is inquiring into the massacre of the foreigners here, has ordered the arrest of three Chinese officials.

An Italian lieutenant, while reconnoitering in the hills with sixteen men, was surrounded by Boxers. A rescue force, composed of 150 British and 60 Italian cavalrymen, leave tonight to drive off the Chinese.

London, Oct. 31.—"Most serious trouble," says the Shanghai correspondent of the Daily Express, "is brewing in the Yangtse region, whether the empress dowager has sent emissaries to raise powerful armed bodies to exterminate converts and expel foreigners. She has appointed Yu Chinan, a notoriously anti-foreign general, to be military governor of the Yangtse district."

Throat Cut and Drowned.

Poplar Bluff, Mo., Oct. 31.—A splash was heard in the river near a railroad bridge and persons hurrying to the scene found the body of a man floating in the water. The remains were pulled ashore and the man's throat was found to be cut from ear to ear. About thirty feet from the river was found his coat, a razor and a pool of blood. The man was well dressed. He was a stranger and was seen last night with $200. Not a cent was found in his pocket.

"Mrs. Pinkham Saved me from an Operation."

Operations Avoided.

When a physician tells a woman suffering with ovarian or womb trouble that an operation is necessary, it of course frightens her.

The very thought of the operating table and the knife strikes terror to her heart.

And our hospitals are full of women who are there for ovarian and womb operations!

It is quite true that these troubles may reach a stage where an operation is the only resource, but such cases are much rarer than is generally supposed, because a great many women have been cured by Mrs. Pinkham's medicine after the doctors had said the operation must be performed.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been very successful in curing ovarian troubles. In fact, up to the point where the knife must be used to secure instant relief, this medicine is certain to help.

Ovarian troubles are easily developed from womb troubles, and womb troubles are so very common that ovaritis is steadily on the increase among women. It is, nevertheless, a most serious trouble, and to recommend wrong treatment for it is a crime for which there cannot be too deep a penalty.

It is, therefore, with full consciousness of the seriousness of the disease and the steady failure of other medicine to cure it, that we present for ovarian and womb trouble Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as the most certain to help of any medicine in the world to-day. Any person who could read the letters in Mrs. Pinkham's files at her office in Lynn, Mass., would be convinced of the efficiency of Mrs. Pinkham's Compound.

The strongest and most grateful statements possible to make come from women who have escaped the operating table by the use of this medicine. Let any woman suffering from these troubles, or anything which may develop into them, write and get Mrs. Pinkham's advice. If you are beyond the reach of the medicine, you will be frankly told so, but, if not, you will be fully and carefully and kindly advised.

The most serious of all the diseases of women, as well as the minor ills, are promptly overcome by

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

$5000 REWARD

to any person who can show that the above testimonial letters are not genuine, or were published before obtaining the writers' special permission.—LYDIA E. PINKHAM MEDICINE CO., Lynn, Mass.

Earnest Words of Gratitude.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—After my child was born, blood poison set in, which left me with granulated inflammation of the womb and congested ovaries. I had suffered from suppressed and painful menstruation from a girl. The doctors told me the ovaries would have to be removed. I took treatment two years to escape an operation, but still remained in miserable health in both body and mind, expecting to part with my reason with each coming month. After using one bottle of the Compound, I became entirely rid of the trouble in my head. I continued to use your remedies until cured. The last nine months have been passed in perfect good health. This I owe entirely to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—MRS. F. M. KNAPP, 1528 Kinnickinnic Ave., Milwaukee, Wis.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Your Vegetable Compound has completely cured me of the worst form of womb trouble, and made me a strong, healthy, robust woman. Before using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I suffered with severe pains in back and side, headache and nervousness. Menses would sometimes occur every two weeks, and once I had a severe hemorrhage which lasted a month. I was confined to my bed and the attending physician told me I would have to undergo an operation as soon as I was strong enough. I read in one of your little books several testimonials from ladies who were cured by your Compound after having been told by their doctors that an operation was necessary, and I made up my mind then and there to commence taking your Compound. I did so and it has completely restored me to good health. I have gained twenty-two pounds since taking it and my flesh is as solid as a rock. My friends remark about the change in me. I am a living advertisement of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound can do, and have influenced many of my friends to try it, which has proved very gratifying in its results. I thank you for restoring me to health."—ANNIE HARTLEY, 221 W. Congress St., Chicago, Ill.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I feel it my duty to publish the wonderful help Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been to me. I was a crazy person—could not eat or sleep; there was no rest for me day or night. Physicians examined me and said an operation was necessary. Before undergoing it, however, I determined to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound. I am so glad I did, for it cured me. I am a well woman now and can do any kind of work. I want this published throughout the land, so that all my suffering sisters may read, and if in any way afflicted with female troubles, they may be induced by my sincere statement to try this wonderful Vegetable Compound and be cured."—MRS. MARGARET BAMPFORD, Centennial Ave., Crescent Beach, Revere, Mass.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I wish to send you my testimonial stating the grand effect Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has had on my health. I was suffering to such an extent from ovarian trouble that my physician thought an operation would be necessary. Your medicine having been recommended to me, I decided to try it. After using several bottles I found that I was cured. My system was toned up and I suffered no more with my ovaries. Your medicine is the greatest boon on earth to suffering women."—MRS. ANNIE ASTON, Box 137, Troy, Mo.

MAL-NUTRITION

You may or may not be eating enough; and are thin. You may or may not feel well—some folks don't know what it is to feel well.

This is mal-nutrition. You are not getting the use of your food.

Take a little Scott's emulsion of cod-liver oil. Begin with a little; increase; but don't overdo it. Take as much as you can without upsetting the stomach.

Feeling well is bodily happiness.

We'll send you a little to try, if you like.

TOTAL NOW 76,295,220.

Population of the United States Given by Census Bureau.

Washington, Oct. 31.—The total population of the United States for 1900, as officially announced today by Director Merriam for the federal census, is 76,295,220.

The total gain in the population of the country since 1890 amounts to 13,225,464, representing an increase of nearly 21 per cent. Of the total population for 1900, 74,627,907 are in the forty-five states, which number represents the basis for the reapportionment of congressional districts. The total population of the census of 1890 was 63,069,756, comprising 62,622,250 persons in the states and organized territories. The statement issued today by the director of census gives the population of the country in detail by states and territories. Hawaii contains a population of 154,001, as compared with 89,980 in 1890, while the number of persons in the service of the United States stationed abroad is 84,000. There is a total of 134,158 Indians not taxed.

Warm Homes

And an even temperature can be had more economically and conveniently with a Favorite Base Burner...

Than in any other way. They require less coal, are more cleanly and beautiful than any other stove in the world. The "Favorite" Base Burner has more heating capacity, and is the most economical Stove ever made. Why? Because it has about 1.3 more radiating surface as compared with same sizes of other Base Burners, and is mounted and fitted perfectly.

Ladies' Jackets, Capes, Golf Skirts, Walking Skirts, Dress Skirts, Tailor-Made suits, also our Rich Fur Garments : : :

The abnormally mild weather during the month of October has forced several large manufacturers, renowned for quality of garments and exclusiveness of styles, to unload and turn into cash a surplus stock, manufactured in anticipation of heavy demands, and left on their hands because it has been too warm. Rather than wait until it might be too late, they have accepted our offers, (in many instances far below manufacturing cost,) and now we are able to offer you, at the beginning of the season, bargains such as you ordinarily would not look for until after Christmas.
